

HIGHLAND DANCER

Roger and Catherine of Broken Bay in Sydney's Northern Beaches took delivery of their beautiful 38' Lightwave sailing catamaran 'HIGHLAND DANCER' earlier this year. "I am setting myself up for semi retirement. I have an office onboard which will mean that I can be in any exotic location with a fishing rod in one hand and my mobile phone or computer in the other. This way I can enjoy family life and still keep an eye on my business." says Roger. 'HIGHLAND DANCER' was named after Roger's wife Catherine "My wife is Scottish and has received several medals for her Scottish dancing. We thought to ourselves that it is unlikely that we would come across another boat with the same name." When asked whether Roger and Catherine had any future cruising plans, "Yes indeed. After the Lightwave Owners Regatta next year we are heading further north with a group of other sailors to the Whitsundays and beyond."
